

Kyle Wylie Wallace Construction Specialties Ltd.

Born and raised in Regina, Kyle has been involved in the construction material supply industry locally for more than twenty years and with his current employer, Wallace Construction Specialties, for fifteen of those. Starting as a warehouse employee, Kyle moved to inside sales and then into a Technical Sales Representative role concentrating on the commercial and industrial sectors. Collaboration and discussions with contractors, architects and engineers has provided him with understanding of the many aspects and roles in the construction industry.

As a one hundred percent local company, giving back to the industry we all value is a culture within Wallace. In its fifty-one year history, the company has three RCA past presidents, including one Honorary Life Member, and many years serving on the board. Kyle believes giving back to the industry, especially local associations, is a responsibility of all that work within it.

Kyle is active with the Thermal Insulation Association of Canada (TIAC) and a committee member with the Future Construction Leaders (FCL). He is ready to become an advocate for the RCA membership as well as serve along-side other construction professionals on the board. The personal and professional development that come with serving on a committee and/or association is invaluable and Kyle is thankful for the opportunity.
